

2018 IMMIGRANT HERITAGE MONTH

June marks Immigrant Heritage Month (IHM), a national commemoration of immigrants and their search for freedom, democracy, peace, stability, and human rights. Since its inception in 2014, IHM has grown into a powerful celebration of millions of individuals' vibrant heritage. IHM is an opportunity for all of us to celebrate and reflect on the countless contributions immigrants have made, and continue to make to Pennsylvania and the United States. Governor Tom Wolf has joined with governors and mayors from 34 states across the country in issuing official proclamations declaring June as Immigrant Heritage Month.

Governor Tom Wolf stated, "Immigrants from all over the world continue to play a significant role in the development of our commonwealth; and Pennsylvania is proud to remain true to our long and noble tradition of being a welcoming place."

Thank you for joining us for the Commonwealth's inaugural celebration of Immigrant Heritage Month.
